ONTARIO PREMIER-ELECT PLANS WIDE CHANGES

Way Is Left Open By Britain For New German Debt Plan

Chancellor, Moving Second Reading of Clearing House Bill, Tells Commons He Hopes Negotiations This Week Will Be Successful

German Delegates In London Wednesday

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, June 25.—"Rightly or wrongly," Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain bluntly told the House of Commons this afternoon, "the creditors of all countries no longer feel the confidence they did in the good faith of Germany."

The Chancellor of the Exchequer was calling for second reading of the government's bill to collect payments through a clearing house to reimburse British holders of German bonds, and also carrying powers to institute tariff increases against nations suspected of discriminating against British exporters.

The step was taken on the eve of the arrival of a German delegation in response to Britain's invitation to "talk over" the debts, pushed to a head last week by Germany's abrupt announcement of a six-month moratorium on the Young and Dawes loans. The talks will endeavor to avert the threatened trade war.

The Chancellor was frank that the powers under the bill were not limited to Germany. "Lapses of this kind," he declared, "are apt to be catching."

Under the bill the clearing house method could be applied to any country should the need arise. The bill, moreover, sought to fill a gap in the Import Duties Act, which authorized imposition of tariffs in reprisal against discriminatory tariffs, but made no provision for action against discriminatory trade quotas.

Under the bill the Board of Trade, he continued, could apply quotas to the imports of any country which discriminated against the United Kingdom by way of quotas.

Lower interest rates in Germany and Great Britain are to begin Wednesday at the Treasury in connection with the German moratorium on debt payments. Some unofficial quarters anticipate a settlement—if one is reached—may provide lower interest rates on German debts owed in Great Britain.

Preparations Completed For Hearing of Three George Brothers on Murder Charge

By Ernest S. Cowper, Canadian Press Correspondent
Vernon, B.C., June 25.—Vernon is preparing to ring up the curtain on its greatest court drama. To-morrow morning three Indian brothers, Richardson, Eness and Alex. George, from the Canford Reserve, will appear before the bar of the white man's justice charged with murder.

On May 23 Dominion Indian Constable F. H. Giesbourne and Provincial Policeman Percy Carr went to the reserve with intent to arrest Eness George. The body of Constable Giesbourne was subsequently found in the Nicola River, badly mutilated, while no trace has since been found of the body of Constable Carr.

Woman Missing In Mystery Declared Alive

New York Police Are Informed Agnes Tuferson Was Seen in Boston as Late as June 10

SMALL GRANT DRAWS FIRE

Chamber of Commerce Directors Protest Victoria Appropriation

Failure of the Dominion government to provide a larger grant for works in Victoria, in view of the amounts given Nanaimo and Vancouver, will be taken up with D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, and Hon. H. A. Stewart, Minister of Public Works, by directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Action in this regard was prompted at the directors' luncheon to-day by James Parfitt, who claimed the grant was not adequate for Victoria. "We are not getting our proportion and the $100,000 is not enough considering our population," he said.

"Nobody living here thinks Victoria is getting a square deal," added J. O. Cameron. "Nanaimo is getting $165,000 and Vancouver $125,000, and it certainly doesn't look as though the money was apportioned fairly. I don't know whether our Victoria member is to blame or whether he doesn't get enough backing down there, but I think we are entitled to more."

G. H. Stevens said: "It isn't that Nanaimo is getting too much, but that we are not getting enough. We don't want to create the impression that we are opposing the large amount given Nanaimo."

"I think we ought to ask our member to have that grant supplemented and think it might be advisable to write the minister about it," said Mr. Parfitt. The motion passed unanimously.

Dissatisfaction with Ottawa's allotment to Victoria in its federal works programme is expressed in a motion, drawn up by Alderman J. D. Hunter for the City Council meeting to-night.

The motion deplores the action of the federal authorities, noting that the present share is little different from those of others during the regime of the present Dominion government.

It considers the action discriminatory and states Victoria believes the sum voted is the provincial capital should be higher inasmuch as smaller centres are receiving better treatment.

Commenting on it to-day, Dr. Hunter stated the city was at a loss to understand why this action had been taken by the Dominion government.

STRIKERS FAIL TO STOP UNLOADING OF SHIP AT SEATTLE

Cargo Taken From Ss. Emma Alexander; Rails Greased, But Train Operates Between Pier and Freight Yards

Associated Press
Seattle, June 25.—Unloading operations on the steamer Emma Alexander, the fourth ship to move cargo since the effort to break the waterfront tie-up began here, were under way to-day, while strikers continued attempts to prevent entry of trains and trucks to Pier 40.

Under cover of darkness, pickets yesterday greased the rails of a spur leading from freight yards to the pier. Chief of Police George F. Howard said, after an engine drawing four cars and a truck heading deputy sheriffs successfully went through the picket lines under police protection yesterday. A special deputy driving the truck was the sole casualty of the brief skirmish, receiving face cuts when the truck's windshield was shattered by a rock.

LOOSE RAILS REMOVED
Type of the pickets that greased on the rails would halt any further passage of locomotives faded, however, when a switch engine, not bound for the pier, puffed over the greased rails of the siding, without difficulty, members of the engine crew removing loose rails which had been placed across the tracks after they had been greased.

Cases, sugar and general cargo from California were being taken from the holds of the Emma Alexander, marking the fourth ship to be unloaded. The British steamship Modavia was unloaded and loaded, leaving Saturday with 2,200 cases of salmon for England, and cargo also has been moved from the Everett and Admiral Chase.

Donor of Late Sir Clifford Sifton Dies in Toronto; Newspaper Director

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 25.—Death came shortly after midnight to Henry Arthur Sifton, well-known Liberal and prominent Canadian newspaper director who for the last several months had been waging a losing battle against illness. He was forty-three years old.

Prominent sportsman and a central figure in the newspaper business, Mr. Sifton was a member of a prominent family of western Canadian journalists. He was the son of the late Sir Clifford and Lady Sifton.

Last autumn Mr. Sifton suffered a stroke and for a while his condition was considered critical. He recovered satisfactorily and during recent months had been able to lead a fairly active life. Last week his condition again became serious, however. Yesterday evening another crisis came from which he failed to rally.

Born in Brandon, Man., he moved with his parents to Ottawa when he was young, and received his education at Ontario private schools and the University of Toronto, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1914.

It has not been decided yet whether there will be another commissioner for the municipality. The government will study the matter after receiving Mr. Fisher's report.

FRENCH RIOTERS HELD FOR TRIAL

Paris, June 25.—Stern measures were adopted by police to-day after violent political clashes in half a dozen cities over the week-end. Manifestations arrested at L'Orient and elsewhere were not released, as has been customary, but were held for prompt trial. Jail sentences will be given them if they are convicted.

This was regarded as the government's answer to the growing disorders throughout the country, principally in protest against the "Pacifist" trend of the Doumergue cabinet.

QUINTUPLETS MONTH OLD

Canadian Press
Dionne quintuplets were four weeks old to-day and celebrated by putting on three ounces in weight, making their gain since Saturday eight and one-half ounces.

Dr. A. B. Dufos reported them all in satisfactory condition. Another month of life, he said, would bring them to the point where they would be the life-expectancy of a normal child at birth. They were premature by two months.

The physician also said to-day Mrs. Olive Dionne, mother of the five girls, showed marked improvement and might be allowed to leave her bed some time this week.

England Overwhelms Aussie Cricketers

Win Second Test Match By Innings and 38 Runs As Australian Batmen Crumble on Wet Wicket; Hedley Verity Is Bowling Hero

Canadian Press
London, June 25.—England evened up the rubber by defeating Australia to-day in the season's second test cricket match. It was the first win for England at Lord's since 1896.

After a sensational Australian collapse, England won by an innings and thirty-eight runs. The scores: England 440, Australia 284 and, following on, 118.

The weatherman gave England the victory, balancing Australia's win by 238 runs at Nottingham. Heavy overnight rain left the wicket perfectly suited to Hedley Verity, and the slow left-arm spin bowler proved disastrous to Australia. In all, he got fifteen of the twenty Australian wickets for an average of just under seven runs apiece.

The Australians were unable to do a thing with Verity's offerings, except Captain W. M. Woodfull, who made a gallant bid to stave off the inevitable result by compiling forty-three runs to start the second innings.

DAY'S PLAY BEGINS
The Australians resumed with 192 runs for two, young W. A. Brown having 103 runs. It had rained heavily over the week-end and the wicket was soft on top, while the pitch was slippery. Shortly before game-time,

Trial of Brownlee Case Started To-day

Miss Vivian MacMillan First Witness in Suit For Unstated Damages From Alberta Premier

By George Finlay, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Edmonton, June 25.—A tall, slim girl, exceptionally pale, Vivian MacMillan, twenty-two-year-old stenographer, co-plaintiff with her father, Allan MacMillan of Edmonton, Alta., in the civil suit against Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta, seeking unstated damages on an allegation of seduction, took the stand before Mr. Justice W. C. Ives in the Alberta Supreme court here to-day.

Dressed in a white summer coat and hat, Miss MacMillan, a former government stenographer, told of her early life in Edmonton, and of her meeting with Alberta's premier at the home of her parents when she was sixteen years old in 1928.

Two years later, in the summer of 1930, Mr. Brownlee returned to Edmonton, attended a picnic with the MacMillan family, and in the evening attended a dance. On the way to the picnic, in the MacMillan car, Mr. Brownlee had suggested to her parents she be allowed to come to Edmonton, take a business college course, and seek a position in the capital, where opportunities would be greater than in the small railway town of Edmonton, where her father was shop foreman for the Canadian National Railways. The premier would act as her guardian, and his family would offer her their hospitality.

At the dance, Mr. Brownlee had danced with her, and she testified, had told her she would grow to be a "very beautiful woman."

WENT TO EDMONTON
The offer to come to Edmonton was accepted, and in October, 1930, she came to the capital, accompanied by her mother, and lived at the Y.W.C.A.

Shortly after she arrived, Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee came to the Y.W.C.A. and told her she would grow to be a "very beautiful woman."

When she was leaving Mrs. Brownlee had told her she was free to come any time to the Premier's home. She had appreciated the opportunity of visiting the Brownlee home.

With Miss MacMillan still on the stand, court adjourned for lunch at 12:15 o'clock, to convene again at 2 p.m.

PREMIER WILL LEAVE FRIDAY

Goes North For Two Weeks to His Riding; Other Ministers Returning

On a two weeks' trip to the northern part of the province, Premier Pattullo will leave Vancouver Friday evening, he stated this morning.

It is understood the Premier will not have many speaking engagements, but will devote his time to looking over the country and general conditions. So far he has no definite itinerary arranged.

The Premier has represented the constituency of Prince Rupert for the last eighteen years in the Legislature and his tour will be somewhat in the nature of a member's visit to his riding.

With Mr. Pattullo going out of the city, other ministers who have been touring the province recently are expected back. Hon. Frank M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, is due in Vancouver Thursday after nearly three weeks' absence. Hon. A. Wells Gray probably will return next week.

Attorney-General Sloan is absent from the capital in Vernon conducting the trial of the Indians accused of murdering two police officers.

Mitchell F. Hepburn Says New Legislature of Ontario Will Vote No Money For Government House, Residence of Lieutenant-Governor; Agent-General to Be Withdrawn From London

Henry Appointments Are to Be Reviewed

Ottawa, June 25.—A special session of the Ontario Legislature will be called as soon after July 15 as possible, if Prime Minister Bennett adheres to his plan to discontinue direct relief payments, it was announced here to-day by Mitchell F. Hepburn, Premier-elect of the province.

In an interview with some twenty-five newspaper correspondents, the Ontario Liberal leader made the following announcements:

Three members of the incoming cabinet are certain, Harry Nixon, Provincial Secretary; Arthur Robertson, Attorney-General, and Duncan Marshall, agriculture. "Imagine this 'in all probability' the Premier will take over the treasury."

The full cabinet slate may be announced after a meeting in Toronto next Wednesday.

Money votes for the Lieutenant-Governor will be stopped.

"I think he will resign," said Mr. Hepburn, referring to Lieutenant-Governor H. A. Bruce, "and the work turned over to the Chief Justice."

NUMBER TO BE DISMISSED
All appointments made during the last year by the Henry government will be reviewed and the majority of the men dismissed. This discredited government appointing a

Liberals Are Expected to Test Government With Want of Confidence Motion

Ottawa, June 25.—With only a few measures left to be disposed of, the government this week faces an embattled opposition in the Commons, filled with enthusiasm by the recent successes of the Liberal party in Ontario and Saskatchewan. The Liberals apparently plan to leave no stone unturned in their effort to drive the government into a general election this year.

At the first opportunity, it is reported, they will propose a want of confidence motion, and the earlier prospects of an end of the session are somewhat dampened by the outlook for the Franchise Bill, which got a good reception when first introduced, was severely criticised by the opposition late last week before it was referred to a special committee scheduled to hold its first meeting to-day.

The Bank of Canada bill, setting up Canada's first central bank, will come before the House committee of the whole again this week, and a number of sections remain to be passed.

Extortion Is Tried By Youth

Boy in Illinois Who Sent Threatening Letters Confesses to Police

Associated Press
Clinton, Ill., June 25.—Francis Goodrich, nineteen-year-old high school graduate of a month ago, who was arrested and according to District Attorney F. K. Lemon, confessed writing a letter demanding $25,000 under threat of bombing, from Walter Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was held in custody to-day.

Lemon said that Goodrich had also old of writing extortion letters to Governor Henry Horner of Illinois, Cornelius Vanderbilt III of New York and to a man named Hoover. He said he believed the Hoover named was formerly a high school official here.

The letters, Lemon said, were all signed by "The Four Kings."

Lemon, who is federal attorney for the southern district of Illinois, with offices in Springfield, but who lives in Clinton, said Goodrich would be taken to Springfield and that charges of extortion by mail would be laid against him under the Lindbergh law.

Goodrich was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Leslie C. Orr, of De Witt County.

Goodrich, Lemon said, readily admitted writing the Gifford letter. He did not tell what had moved him to his campaign.

WHEAT TALKS POSTPONED

Argentina's Course Causes Nations' Delegates to Postpone Conference

Associated Press
London, June 25.—Argentina's refusal to curb wheat exports or to accept any scheme to decrease production to-day forced an indefinite postponement of the regular session in the International Wheat Commission, scheduled to open here Wednesday.

Members said the life of the commission itself, organized last August with the hope of boosting wheat prices throughout the world, was threatened.

No formal announcement of the postponement was made, but it was learned all members of the commission were informed privately negotiations between Argentina and other members of the "Big Four" thus far had been fruitless.

Interested circles say the prospects are most gloomy as the wheat situation is unchanged and Argentina, continuing her heavy wheat shipments, now has passed the 125,000,000-bushel mark, breaking her export quota agreement under which she accepted a limit of 110,000,000 bushels for the year ending July 31.

Argentina's defence was the agreement was drawn up before it was known she would have a bumper crop and the pressure of private traders forced the government's hands.

It now is stated authoritatively a meeting this week would be useless as agreement of Argentina on any possible restriction scheme would be impossible at present.

It is still hoped, however, if the commission is unable to do business next month, it will be able to hold a meeting in August to make a fresh start for the next cereal year with new agreements regulating exports and production.

It was admitted Argentina must be won back to the fold before anything can be done.

Johannesburg, South Africa, June 25.—Europe's talk of increasing armaments and reports of further potential trouble in the Far East have been of benefit to the manganese and copper industries of South Africa, according to The Johannesburg Evening Post.

South African and Rhodesian manganese mines, long closed, have suddenly been reopened to meet demands exceeding present supplies.

Substantial orders for vanadium are arriving from Russia and Great Britain, said The Post, while in northern Rhodesia the copper fields are scenes of activity comparable to the boom period of five years ago.

NAZIS ARE TOLD ABOUT ENEMIES

Canadian Press from Havas
Essen, Germany, June 25.—Minister of Propaganda Joseph Goebbels yesterday evening lashed out against the Conservatives in Germany, reviving warfare within the Nazi government first revealed by Vice-Chancellor von Papen's sensational speech at Marburg, Sunday, June 17.

"We must not imagine," he said, "that our enemies are hidden forever in their rat-holes. They crouch there awaiting their hour."

"Neither must it be thought that we do not see our enemies. If we leave them in peace now it is merely to induce them to leave their holes."

"The enemies of National Socialism are not to be found among the workers, but among 'respectable' elements for whom National Socialism would be but a temporary manifestation."

"Too much weight must not be placed on them, for they have no influence over the people. One can see them in their various forms as officers of the reserve, as intellectuals, as journalists and ecclesiastics. It needs a good eye to recognize them."

Rutland, Vt., June 25.—W. J. McMullen, pilot, and R. L. Oakes, a photographer for the Aerial Expedition Survey of New York, were killed yesterday when two airplanes collided with terrific force 3,000 feet over this city.

Capt. Herbert H. Mills of Hartford, Connecticut, a Connecticut National Guard officer piloting the other ship, saved his life by using his parachute. He landed in a field.

He was preparing to land for manoeuvres dedicating the Rutland airport when the collision occurred.

Both planes went out of control and were wrecked as they fell a quarter of a mile apart. Neither caught fire.

Mills' plane, a Douglas observation craft, came down in the center of the aviation field, while the photographer's plane, a cabin type, crashed in cultivated ground.

Both McMullen and Oakes were thrown from their plane in mid-air and landed about 100 feet clear of the wreckage. Neither had opened his parachute.

CLUB BARS OUT D. FROHMAN

Lido at Long Beach, N.Y., Refuses to Accept Him Because He Is Jew

New York, June 25.—The New York News says Daniel Frohman, widely known theatrical producer, revealed Sunday he had been barred from membership in the Lido Country Club at Long Beach, N.Y., because he is a Jew.

The News says he was taken to the club Friday afternoon as a guest of Mrs. Reynier Brall, who had put him up for membership, and that she was called aside and told not to bring him back again.

Frohman said, that the only reason for his virtual eviction was his race, the paper stated.

"Mrs. Brall immediately withdrew her membership and the party went elsewhere for dinner."

Mr. Frohman has been a prominent figure in the theatrical field for many years. He is eighty-one years of age.

Farmers Win Lands Protest

Leases to Orientals in Indian Territory Barred, Island Member Wires

Special to The Times
Duncan, June 25.—The farmers of this district, through the Cowichan Agricultural Society, vigorously protested recently to Ottawa against the granting of leases to Indian lands to alien Orientals, and demanded that all existing leases be cancelled.

They have received the following information from C. H. Dickie, M.P.: "Instructions have been issued to the Indian Department that in the Cowichan agency no further leases are to be granted to Orientals, and that leases at present in existence to Orientals are not to be renewed on their expiration."

This is welcome information, as the Cowichan farmers have felt the leasing of Indian lands to Orientals was creating unfair competition to the legitimate white farmer.

Irish Duties Against Britain

Valera Plans Higher Levies on Several Classes of Goods

London, June 25.—President Eamon de Valera is arranging to issue an order at Dublin imposing additional tariff duties on several classes of British goods, which will make their cost considerably higher than that of similar German goods entering the Irish Free State, according to The London Daily Herald.

The order is being made under the Preferential Duties Act, which sets out that in future the Free State will only accord preferential rates to those countries with which Ireland has trade agreements. Tariff barriers against British goods were established in the course of trade reprisals between the two countries following the Valera government's refusal to pay land annuities.

According to The Daily Herald, a Free State-German commercial agreement is likely within the next few days. Representatives of German trading interests have been conducting negotiations during the last few days with the Minister of Commerce.

The performer, fifty-three years old, was a popular figure at street fairs.

NEW DILINGER HUNT FAILS

Sixty Police Raid Ranch in Missouri, But Outlaws Not There

Branson, Mo., June 25.—Sixty state and federal officers, machine guns ready for action, raided the Ozarks Hills ranch of Clyde Higgs yesterday in a fruitless search for John Dillinger, escaped "Indiana" desperado, and Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, southwestern outlaw.

The police officers acted on information two men identified as Dillinger and Floyd had arrived in an ambulance at the ranch Friday night, one of them seriously wounded.

The Lake Taneycomo district, two miles south of here, virtually was taken over by the raiders.

The officers assembled at the ranch at 4 a.m. They found no one there but Higgs, who denied any one had been at his ranch in the last two days, and that any one had arrived there in an ambulance. The sheriff searched Higgs' cabin thoroughly.

Sheriff Curtis said it was the belief of officers that two men were taken to the Higgs place in an ambulance and that they obtained medical treatment and departed.

POLICE HUNT RADIO THIEVES

Gang in Vancouver Stealing Sets; Store and Home Robbed

Canadian Press
Vancouver, June 25.—Vancouver city police are investigating a series of radio thefts from city homes and automobiles here on the theory that an organized gang specializing in radios is responsible, and that there is some place where the sets can be disposed of at a price slightly lower than cost.

Three citizens reported thefts of their radios here over the week-end.

Breaking into the garage of A. Arnold in the 500 block of Bloor Street, thieves disconnected and carried off an automobile radio from his car. Mr. Arnold set the value of the set at $100.

While N. Adirim was absent from his home for the week-end thieves broke into the house and carried off a new radio valued at $125. Nothing else was touched by the thieves.

Forcing the front door to the home of E. MacDonald, in the 300 block of Hawkes Avenue, thieves gained entry to the place during the owner's absence and escaped with a small radio valued at approximately $40.

STORE AND HOUSES ROBBED

In a series of robberies that swept the city over the week-end thieves carried off approximately $1,400 worth of jewelry and miscellaneous merchandise and $30 in cash from two city homes and a large store, according to police reports.

Gaining entry to a Metropolitan Store in the 100 block of Hastings Street West by removing glass from a skylight window, thieves ransacked the top floor storeroom and escaped with clothing and general merchandise valued at more than $650. Police investigating the bold robbery found the roof of an adjoining building had been used by the thieves as a means of escape.

H. Fawcett, 1100 block of Gifford Street, reported to police that his home had been ransacked while he was away for the week-end. The thieves gained entry by breaking a pane of glass in a basement window, and after ransacking the house escaped with $30 in cash and jewelry valued at $450.

Ten dollars in cash and jewelry to the value of $25 were stolen from the apartment of Mrs. W. Bond, 1700 block of Beach Avenue, when thieves entered the place by means of a pass-key and ransacked it.

GREAT PARADE IN MONTREAL

Canadian Press
Montreal, June 25.—Montreal throbbled yesterday with the patriotic heart beats of thousands on thousands of French-Canadians who participated in one way or another in honoring St. Jean Baptiste and observing the first centenary of the founding of the St. Jean Baptiste Society by Louis Duvernay, a Montreal journalist.

A conservative estimate placed the number of people who either walked or witnessed the parade at 125,000.

A feature was the large number of interesting floats showing the march of civilization in French-Canada down from the fleet couriers de bois and zealous missionaries to the most modern modern transportation—the fast ocean liner and the airplane.

PRIEST KILLED BY AUSTRIAN BOMBERS

Associated Press
Vienna, June 25.—A Roman Catholic priest was killed and five persons were injured as bombings continued in many parts of Austria over the week-end.

Rev. Father Franz Eibel died yesterday of injuries suffered Saturday evening, when a bomb exploded near the vicarage door at Kuppenberg, in Styria.

The priest was wounded as he stood talking to a Catholic storm trooper and his wife. The storm trooper and two companions were injured slightly.

In Vienna the wife of a storm trooper was injured by a bomb thrown through a window of her bedroom.

MORE RIOTS IN FRANCE

Violence Flares in Half a Dozen Cities as Police Quell Political Disorders

By Alexander H. Uhl, Associated Press Staff Writer
Paris, June 25.—The ugly temper of French crowds, a menace to authorities since the nation's political passions were unleashed on the historic night of February 2, furnished police with an exciting week-end in half a dozen cities.

The gravest disorders were in Orléans Saturday evening, where 100 were injured in a violent clash with mounted guardsmen. Communists, after listening to a political speech, barricaded themselves behind a stone wall and resisted repeated charges with a barrage of bottles, paving blocks and sticks.

Show windows were smashed, stores looted and trees uprooted during the fighting. Firemen, who finally dispersed the crowds by turning hose on them, were trampled in the fray. Thirty were arrested.

HAND IS RETURNED
Yesterday Communists returned the hand of one of the mounted guards, torn off with a sabre slash during the fighting.

There were clashes at Saint Germain, where royalists and socialists had a pitched battle; at Caen, where there was minor fighting, and at Angoulême, where communists raided a royalist hall on the anniversary of the discovery of oil in the region, claiming the affair had a political taint to it. Twelve were arrested.

WAR VETERANS FIGHT

In Paris 500 war veterans, continuing their weekly protests against pension cuts, marched out on the square in front of the Paris Opera, in the heart of the capital, and fought against police and mounted guards, who quickly brought the situation under control.

While Saturday's riot at Longchamps commenced because of a bad start in one of the horse races, it too, took on a political twist at the height of the battle when shouts of "Bastille" were heard, the reference being to France's greatest political scandal in a generation.

The readiness of crowds in general throughout France to resort to violence and destruction is greatly worrying authorities, high and low alike. They have been forced to give protection to 1,000 political meetings in the last three months, and there have been more than a dozen serious clashes.

AUTO SLAUGHTER AROUSES BRITAIN

London, June 25.—Road accidents, which bring death and misery to thousands of British families each year, are increasing in London.

In the first three months of this year there were 32,138 street accidents in London alone. This is 5,129 more than in the same period last year.

It is true that the number of people killed was slightly less—315 instead of 322—but the number of injured increased from 11,078 to 12,593.

Taking the whole of Britain, road casualties in the two latest weeks for which figures have been published were: April 22-28, killed 126, injured 4,012; April 29-May 5, killed 124, injured 4,511.

THE MINISTER'S VIEWS

There is little wonder that this state of affairs is arousing at any rate a section of the public to demand: "Can anything be done about this?"

The question came up, for instance, at the National Safety Congress which the National Safety First Association have been holding in London.

The congress was opened by the Minister of Transport, Mr. Oliver Stanley, and he had some striking remarks to make about safety—or lack of it—on the roads.

"Something near twenty people on an average are killed daily on our roads," he said. "If twenty people were killed in one day through some calamity or some terrible industrial accident, it would form a topic of conversation for the majority of the population."

"If such an accident were repeated even two or three times a month, the country would insist that whatever action Parliament could take should be taken to prevent a recurrence of such a terrible calamity."

"Yet I am told when I introduce a bill in the House of Commons to deal with some portion of this problem that it is a bill for which there is no necessity."

"I do not deny that there is a great deal that we can do on the roads to make them safer, but however much we spend, however perfect our roads are, it will not prevent folly, carelessness and recklessness, ending in fatalities."

The minister quoted some extraordinary facts to support his statement.

DEATH ON STRAIGHT ROADS

"People say," he explained, "Spend money on eliminating dangerous corners and blind bends, but no less than 70 per cent of the fatal accidents which occurred last year occurred on straight roads or on open road bends with a good sight line."

"Then people say, 'Widen roads, get rid of the congestion of traffic which some of our roads have to bear.' But 60 per cent of fatal accidents last year occurred on roads carrying light traffic, over 36 per cent on roads carrying moderate traffic and only 3 per cent on roads which bore dense traffic."

"Out of 3,517 pedestrians who were

"YOUNG MR. HEPBURN"

SASKATCHEWAN SET THE PACE FOR young Premiers, beginning with Hon. Walter Scott, who formed the first government with the creation of the province in 1905 at the age of thirty-eight.

Ontario, however, is now getting into "Saskatchewan's" young-Premier class. Mr. Mitchell F. Hepburn—called by Premier Henry during the recent election campaign, not always in a complimentary tone, "young Mr. Hepburn"—will not reach his thirty-eighth birthday until August of this year.

Mr. Hepburn is the youngest Premier Ontario has ever had. Mr. Edward Blake was in his thirty-ninth year when he assumed office in 1872. Mr. Drury, who interrupted Conservative rule in 1919 had reached his forty-first milestone when he became head of the government. Sir William Howard Hearst had reached the half-century mark before he was called upon to form a government in 1914.

Back to the confederation year of 1867, we find that Hon. J. S. Macdonald, the first Premier of Ontario, entered office at fifty-five; but he had directed a ministry prior to confederation at fifty. Down the line are Mowat at fifty-two, Ferguson at fifty-three, Ross and Hardy at fifty-eight, Henry, the Premier defeated last Tuesday, at fifty-one, and Whitney, at sixty-one.

Ontario is a young man's country, for it is still—like Canada as a whole—only at the beginning of things. In many ways it typifies Canada more accurately than any other section of the Dominion. Its breezy young leader, therefore, is bound to be an object of nation-wide attention.

TOURIST TRAVEL

SOME TIME AGO THE PROVINCIAL Economic Council issued a report on the tourist business of this province, which contained a significant reference to motor car traffic last year. In 1933 the number of cars entering British Columbia was 102,863, while those which went out numbered 125,266. Last year was exceptional, of course, in many respects. It also should be borne in mind that the majority of incoming cars come north during the limited holiday season, whereas British Columbia cars go southward over a much longer season.

But there is no doubt that the condition of our roads has a great deal to do with the diminution of motor travel from the south, a factor which ought to remind us that expenditures on our highways have much wider economic application than that of a purely local requirement. This traffic is of incalculable value to the province, and any important decline in it is reflected at once in our business. This elementary consideration should emphasize the necessity of putting our main highways in reasonably good shape in our own important interests.

Recently a committee of Parliament, under the chairmanship of Senator Dennis, investigated and reported upon tourist travel to Canada, and made a number of important recommendations directed to the encouragement of this business, which in good times amounts to some three hundred millions of dollars a year, and therefore represents our most lucrative trade. If in pursuance of the recommendations of the committee the federal government diverted a substantial proportion of the sum to be expended upon its work programme to the improvement of our highways and parks, it would be engaging in productive expenditure really worth while. We need good roads much more than we need public buildings.

MR. HEARST IN LONDON

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, United States publisher of many newspapers which frequently criticize the Old Country, is visiting London.

The News-Chronicle interviewed him and reports him as saying: "I have never thought England did not mean to pay her debt. It has always been England's policy to discharge her obligations." His newspapers, however, have been saying other things. Incidentally, he is a considerable taxpayer over there, where he has publishing interests as well as an imposing estate.

A LOSS TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

NOT MANY PROMINENT MEN IN western Canada were as widely known as Mr. W. J. Wilson, affectionately known as "Blake" Wilson, whose funeral took place in Vancouver today, and none numbered more personal friends. While his home was in the mainland city, in the development of which he long was a conspicuous factor, his many diversified interests brought him into contact with the business life of the whole Dominion, and in that spacious sphere he was universally esteemed for his sterling integrity, sound ability and kindly disposition.

Mr. Wilson's career was marked by activities which are inseparably associated with pioneering progress. Coming from an Ontario farm more than forty years ago, he was connected with railroad construction, principally in this province, and for the most part with the cattle business which remained his chief preoccupation until the end of his life. A few years ago he suffered a serious illness which considerably impaired his capacity for meeting the growing responsibilities which confronted him from many quarters and his concern for the success of all worthy causes, or modify his fine confidence in the future of his country. His passing is a distinct loss to Canada, particularly to British Columbia, to whose progress he made many notable contributions. He was a fine type of progressive Canadian, and Victoria, of which he always was a staunch friend, shares Vancouver's regret over his loss.

THE HUNTER'S COAT AND CAP

FROM SALMON ARM COMES THE SUG-gestion of the Interior Fish and Game Association that hunters be clothed in coat and cap of scarlet material.

There may be merit in this suggestion; but it will be difficult for those enthusiastic Victorians who are partial to tasty grouse or pheasant—not to mention a juicy venison steak—to exchange the traditional old-style garb for the regalia of the hunt in which men and women and horses and dogs chase a poor fox until he is caught, or ducks down some drain.

The Interior Fish and Game Association, however, has brought the attention of the public, particularly that section of the public which goes into the woods to hunt, to the fact that as each hunting season comes round there are the usual fatalities. Somebody shoots at some object in the bushes which he thinks is a deer or some other animal which he is permitted to kill, and then, to his horror, he discovers that it is a human being, and that he has either wounded or killed a fellow hunter.

It would be an excellent thing if some distinguishing garb were worn by hunters; but if all hunters would curb their desire for slaughter until they are quite sure of the nature of their target, there would be fewer accidents.

ANIMALS DUMB?

THE AVERAGE MAN OR WOMAN WHO likes animals and is convinced that his or her pet understands a half dozen familiar commands may be surprised to learn that several "animal dictionaries" have been written.

Gabriele D'Annunzio, the Italian poet, has announced that he will include a complete glossary of the canine language in his new book, "Lives of Illustrious Dogs." The book is to be modeled after Plutarch's "Lives."

Other animals whose vocabularies have been recorded are the monkey, the horse, and the cat. An American woman, Miss Blanch W. Learned, was responsible for classifying thirty-two terms of the chimpanzee, together with the meaning of each. Other scientists have tabulated twelve "words" of the mar-moset language and fourteen of the gibbon's.

The horse is said to speak "six words and three kinds of neighing." Cats produce fifteen sounds, according to the experts, each with its distinct interpretation. There are twelve "words" in the hen's vocabulary and five in the rooster's.

From all this it seems that it is high time that the phrase, "our dumb friends," went into the discard. It was always a libel.

DOWN TO MOTHER EARTH

SCHOOL CHILDREN ALL OVER THE world learn gardening just as they learn the multiplication table or spelling. Courses begin in the early grades. The courses may be continued through high school. People with vacant lots donate their idle land for the school gardens; volunteers tend them through the vacation season.

If there is anything better to teach children than some elementary knowledge of growing things and how to make them grow, it is hard to think what it might be. Pathetic is the ignorance of many city-bound people of how to grow vegetables or flowers or trees, how to make a garden or landscape a lawn.

Every man is better equipped for life with this knowledge, and better off for even so shallow a contact with Mother Earth. Many a school system might profitably adopt this plan.

ADVERTISING SURVEY
 The Kingston Whig-Standard

A survey of advertising in the United States shows that more than 61 per cent of the aggregate advertising appropriation of several hundred firms representative of various business lines was spent in newspapers, 26.9 per cent in magazines and 12 per cent in radio broadcast. The figures emphasize the greater advertising value of newspapers.

One of the most remarkable pieces of news comes from Drumheller. The city council has voted money to erect a forty-foot hitching rack for horses. It is many years since the old hitching rack disappeared from Drumheller, but it is said that: "Since more horses are now being used by farmers, the difficulty of hitching them to some solid object has arisen and the return of the hitching rack has been deemed necessary."

Would it be profitable to mine oceans for gold? On the North Carolina coast, where the Dow Chemical Company is extracting bromine from sea water, research workers have by spectroscopic analysis shown the presence of two and one-third parts of gold to one billion parts of raw sea water.

That is, there is $980 worth of gold in a billion pounds of sea water.

If in all the oceans, the proportions of gold to water runs the same, there is in the oceans 1,800,000,000,000 ounces of gold.

This has a present day value of $52,500,000,000,000—or $52,500 for every man, woman and child on the earth. There would be approximately $6,000,000 worth of gold in every cubic mile of sea water.

All science has to do is find a method of extracting it. And since the Dow Chemical Company of Midland, Mich., has found a way to extract bromine profitably from sea water, William R. Dow, president of the enterprise, declares it is not impossible that a way will be found some day to obtain the gold and other valuable

CABINET MEETING

OTTAWA, JUNE 25—At a full meeting of the federal cabinet to-day the political situation in Canada was thoroughly discussed.

"There might be some," said Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, "who would say that, in view of what happened in Saskatchewan and Ontario, we ought to go to the country."

"Yes, but of course we know better," said Premier Bennett.

"Naturally," said Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, "the fact that this is supposed to be a democratic country, with government responsible to the people, has nothing to do with it—a mere fiction. Let it be true that our governments always get defeated every other election or so?"

"Just so," said Premier Bennett. "Well, then, that proves that about half the time we have government in office that the people don't want."

"Therefore," said Premier Bennett, "we are perfectly justified in refusing to resign. Of course, I hasten to add that I don't admit that we would be defeated if we went to the country, but between ourselves, we might be."

"That's the danger exactly," said Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett. "And then what would happen to the country? Why, we should have Mackenzie King back again, that's what! Obviously our first duty is to save the country from that."

"Yes, and I am resolved to do it," said Premier Bennett, "at whatever personal cost may be necessary. I mean I will even remain in office for another year, if it be, to protect the country from such a calamity."

"Yes, even though the country does not want to be protected," said Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett. "Why the country doesn't even know our policy yet. How can it? I don't know myself. You can't trust the country."

"Of course, you can't trust the country," said Premier Bennett. "You can't trust it to look after itself, you know. Indeed, there is only one man in Canada whom I can fully trust to-day. That, my dear friend, is you."

"I was about to say precisely the same thing about you, sir," said Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett.

"The opinion appears to be unanimous," said Premier Bennett, "and there will be no election. This meeting is adjourned."

NO, MR. GRUNSKY

JUST BEFORE HIS recent death Dr. O. E. Grunsky, president of the California Academy of Science, prepared a treatise which was read before that body last week. It proved beyond question that climate has not changed within the period of recorded history and will not change for thousands of years.

This is the last word of science on the subject, but it will not be accepted by the old-timers of Victoria. They will persist in their stirring tales of the good old days of sixty years back, when we used to have real cold winters in Victoria, and rain by the yard, and blistering hot summers. Indeed, the older the timers get the colder, wetter and hotter the weather of those ancient days becomes. By the time a man has lived in Victoria half a century, he is certain that he must have been a rugged pioneer to have stood it at all. Thus the legend of the hard climate which has gone is thus a great comfort to the aged.

And what if Dr. Grunsky can prove by scientific means that climate changes only through thousands of years? There are men now living who have ridden toboggans down Beacon Hill and who remember the days when everyone who owned a buggy also kept a cutter for the winter. Is the testimony of our most respected residents to be swept aside by a mere scientist from California? And if one can't brag about the harder winters and hotter summers of the past, if one can't prove one's venerability by telling of the great snows of the old days, what is left to talk about? What is the use of being an old-timer anyway? You can listen to Dr. Grunsky, if you like. I'll take the word of the original inhabitants. It's so much more interesting.

WILD DRIVING

I WAS DRIVING a fellow from New York around Victoria to-day and I found the poor fellow in a constant state of jitter as we swept through the traffic. He clutched the seat, braced his feet against the floor and emitted low moans of alarm. He said he was used to driving down Fifth Avenue, where they travel at sixty miles an hour and think nothing of it, but he had never seen anything like Victoria. People here, he pointed out, hardly ever signal with their arms where they are going. They pass the street at any point they like. There are no stop-and-go signals so that you just wriggle across intersections like a snake. It's a wonder, he said, that we don't kill off half the population with our wild and uncontrolled driving.

"Ah, my friend," said I, swerving expertly to avoid a jay-walker, "you do not appreciate us. What you so ignorantly call wild traffic is the glory of this place. Our lives are not governed by alternating red and green lights. No policeman stands on the corner to order us about. No rules are enforced to regiment us like the robots of New York and Vancouver. Here a pedestrian is actually a citizen, with rights like a human being. We try to avoid running him down, but we do not think of compelling him to protect himself. He crosses the streets where he will, what are streets for? Streets, sir, were made for men, not men for streets, and likewise automobiles. We defy the machine age, sir, and we refuse to accept the slavery of your civilization. Behold, sir," said I, avoiding a car which shot past me on the wrong side, "behold, sir, the last stronghold of free men in America!"

"If you don't look out," said this skilled motorist, "I'll be the last stronghold of old-fashioned driving in Victoria." "Better that," said I, "than the regimentation of New York."

And as I remembered how, only a few months ago, I was living my whole life according to the whim of the red-and-green lights, how I learned to a hundred yards in ten seconds getting across Forty-second Street at the noon hour before the lights changed, how I dodged about the steel pillars of the elevated like a skilled maddard to avoid the cars that snorted by at sixty, how I refused to go more than fifty through the Holland Tunnel—then I was glad that in Victoria we defied this wretched slavery, that we have refused to surrender our personal liberty merely to protect human life.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

TO MY FRIEND
 I beg of you, forget
 the past and its phase of me;
 But treasure the rest of me yet!

Because, had that perfection
 I ever longed to win from mine, I should never have vexed you with
 One moment of lack or of sin.

I should never have caused you sorrow,
 by any brief pang of pain.
 For I longed to clasp your hand in mine
 And to lend you to joy's domain.

So I would have you remember
 Not all I have done for you,
 But only the brighter, better part,
 The bloom and the promise of me!

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

JUNE 25, 1909

(From The Times Files)

The delegates of the Canadian Wholesale Grocers' Exchange now meeting in the city were entertained last evening by the B.C. Wholesale Grocers' Exchange. The banquet was tendered them in the Empress Hotel, where most elaborate preparations were made for the occasion in keeping with the hotel.

Bellingham Day at the Willows race track was also second ladies' day. The Chippewa brought in 601 passengers, most of whom went to the races. The local feminine population attended in good numbers so that the grandstand was crowded.

All preparations for the holding of the annual rose show next week, under the auspices of the Victoria Horticultural Society, are being pushed ahead rapidly, and this year's show promises to be the greatest in the history of the society.

Cheap power and abundance of it, with all the industrial and commercial advantages which it makes possible, will be Victoria's within two years. The city council, on behalf of the people, last night expressed its approval of the draft agreement which the B.C. Electric Railway Company submitted over three months ago. This places the company in a position to go ahead with the project for the development of Jordan River, involving an expenditure of at least $1,500,000.

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 400 words. It positively will not print lengthy communications.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers. Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as "baits" for the protection of our patient readers as for that of the Times.

TEXT-BOOKS

To the Editor:—When the educational system of British Columbia is reorganized the cost of school books should receive consideration.

Some eighteen months ago The Intelligence of West Virginia, made an inquiry into this question and discovered some startling facts. Some of them are as follows:

"One of the 'School Book Trust's' favorite 'tricks' is to change text-books at frequent intervals, thus boosting sales."

"Text-books for Ontario schools are prepared by experts under direction of the government. They are printed by private publishers who tender bids for the jobs, and there is keen competition. The maximum price at which they may be sold is fixed by the provincial government, and the contract to furnish these books usually runs for seven years."

The Intelligence prints the following table of comparative prices:

	Ont.	W. Vir.	B.C.
Primer
First Reader
Second Reader
Third Reader
Speller
Grammar
Arithmetic
Geography

The list for B.C. is not given by The Intelligence. I have inserted it for comparison. The first five books in the B.C. list are issued free. In the first place, the prices quoted are those charged for replacement. The government may possibly obtain them at less than these prices.

To again quote The Intelligence: "The Ontario prices given are the maximum; by buying direct from the publisher, the parents get a 20 per cent discount."

The present seems an appropriate time to institute the Ontario system in British Columbia, thus giving parents—and in the case of free issues, the government—the advantage of cheap school books, a matter of considerable importance during such times as the present.

Another matter that should receive consideration is the question of the unnecessary changing of text-books.

PROGRESS

To the Editor:—In the local press and from prominent people in speeches to our citizens there seems to be a united opinion and a demand that something should be done about our out of date electoral laws, and our bathing facilities, with an inclination to pass the blame of inaction on to the Victoria City Council.

But it is the people who are at fault, not the city council. The local government, or any elected Canadian government, municipal, provincial or federal are only the stewards, trustees, for the people—to represent them and to carry out the programme and policy that is or should be decided upon by the electorate previous to the date of the election.

Perhaps we do not realize the great power for good that could be obtained

CHRISTLESS POLITICS

To the Editor:—It is very gratifying to see in The Times of a few days ago, H.B.W.'s attitude towards those reporters and caricaturists who ridiculed one of the prominent men in the politics of our province for his religious fervor, a man who, appreciating the magnificence of God's creation as seen from Vancouver looking across Burrard Inlet, appeared to have expressed his admiration of, and gratitude to God in a heartfelt: "Praise God from whom all blessings flow!"

When living on this beautiful western coast of British Columbia, as for instance here in Victoria, would not be impelled to give a similar utterance of his soul's wonder and amazement at the magnificent creation of God? How much more inspiring is God's handiwork than man's achievements as seen in our crowded cities, shrouded in a cloud of dust, soot and smoke? Where do we see anything that man made to compare, for instance, with the fragrance of the flowers, the singing of the birds, the zephyr whispering in the tree tops, the murmuring of the waters of a streamlet, the verdant hills and the silent majesty of the mountains capped with immaculate eternal snow?

Do not the aviators tell us that when they rise to the height of about one mile above a metropolis of the size of London, the fumes and gases of our boasted civilization hide it from their view and how the city's combined noises culminate into one incessant, ominous, weird shriek, as of a soul in distress?

No, we cannot afford to ridicule our prominent men, nor any other man for that matter, who dare publicly give utterance to their spiritual-mindedness. For if we have come to that stage in our civilization where Christ is to be left out of politics in order to be successful in it, it is time we realize how radically wrong we are and that this accounts for the repeated failure of our rule of man by man!

Politics with God and politics without God can be little be favorably compared as the filthy mist hovering over our cities down in the valleys and the woefully cirrus clouds hugging the pure snow that crowns our majestic Rockies.

"The warning then must be sounded 'Fire from the wrath to come unto Christ, the One mighty to save,' and let us 'praise God from Whom all blessings flow!'"

MAN HELD FOR QUESTIONING

Associated Press
Sarnia, Lake, N.Y., June 25.—Operating in the strictest secrecy, New York state police held a twenty-five-year-old civilian Conservation Corps worker to-day for questioning in connection with the criminal attack on and murder of Cleo Teitelbaum, fourteen-year-old high school girl, whose nude body was found in woods near her home yesterday.

A deputy of the office of Sheriff Mark E. Monaghan said the man was Truman Showers of Syracuse, a C.C.C. truck driver.

The body of the girl, the head and face battered, was found by her brother, Wilbur, in a thick clump of bushes. There were signs of a struggle.

Showers was taken into custody when the girl's father said he had seen the C.C.C. worker pass his home soon after his daughter had gone out to post some letters. The Teitelbaums live in the quiet little Adirondack village of Bloomington.

Showers was removed to an unannounced destination yesterday evening.

MACE REPLICA TO COME HERE

July 4 Party From Seattle to Make Postponed Presentation to B.C. Government

A replica of the historic mace taken from Canada by the invading American army of 1812 will be presented to the British Columbia Government at a ceremony on the steps of the Parliament Buildings on July 4 as the high point in an excursion of 1,200 persons to be brought here on that date aboard one of the C.P.R. Princess liners under the Forty-and-eight veterans' organization of Seattle.

The original mace was to have been presented to Lieutenant-Governor Fordham Johnson two weeks ago at the Canadian Legion Convention held in Portland, Ore., at the same time as the Rose show. This presentation was deferred to make it the occasion of an international ceremony on a grand scale somewhere in the east later on.

The replica instead of the original will now be presented to the B.C. Government with all the sentiments that were to have accompanied the presentation at Portland.

Mayor Leeming and Alderman J. D. Hunter, who attended the Portland affair, are considering the arrangements here, including the reception by Premier Pattullo on the Parliament Buildings steps. A. H. C. Jones has been named by some of the returned soldier organizations to represent them in the arrangements.

WEDDING HELD AT CATHEDRAL

Wilding-Newall Nuptials on Saturday Evening; Reception New Thought Hall

At Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday evening at 8.30 o'clock, the marriage of Esther, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Newall, Beckley Avenue, and Mr. Albert R. C. Wilding, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilding, Cumberland, England, was solemnized by Very Rev. G. S. Quinton, Dean of Columbia. Mr. Stanley Bulley was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's wedding gown was of white French flat crepe, with a long train, the bodice having the late Victorian neckline and long tight sleeves puffed above the elbows. Her veil of embroidered net was turned off her face with a stiff frill and held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms across her brow, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lily of the valley.

Her only attendant was Miss Mura Knowles, in a charming frock of blue organza, made with a long ruffled skirt and a cape of ruffles, and a wide-brimmed hat of white silk straw, carrying a bouquet of pale pink carnations and pink sweet peas.

Mr. Elmet Abercrombie supported the groom, and the ushers were Richard Little and Mr. Gordon Winwick.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the New Thought Hall, which was master of ceremonies for the occasion. The guests were welcomed by the bride's parents, assisted by Mrs. A. Watson, with whom the bride had made her home. Mrs. Newall wore a becoming gown of deep plum blue flat crepe with insertions of lace in the bodice, and a matching hat and grey accessories, and Mrs. Watson was in a smart ensemble of pale blue, trimmed with white, and white accessories.

The bride and groom stood to receive the greetings of their friends beneath a large white hall of flowers of pink and blue streamers, and supper was served from a table arranged with silver vases filled with sweet peas, and pink candles in silver holders, and on this table placed the beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake.

Dancing was enjoyed during the evening to music supplied by the Firemen's Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. John Newall, brother of the bride, and vocal solos by Miss Mona Morgan, who sang "O Promise Me" and "Garden of Happiness," also gave pleasure to the guests.

After a honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride left in a white swag suit, Mr. and Mrs. Wilding will make their home on McColl Avenue, Oak Bay.

Among the numerous and beautiful gifts was a mantle clock from the bride's former associates in the provision department of David Spence Limited, and an engraved silver tea service from the staff at the Beach Hotel, of which the groom is a member.

provided by the Old-Timers, whose playing of mountain tunes was vociferously applauded. The dance music left nothing to be desired, and many reservations were made, including a party given in honor of Miss Kathleen Bone, the guests being Miss Una Robertson, Miss Nan Hutton, Mr. Oscar Reppas, Wallace Dixon, Mr. Thomas Liddell. Other tables were booked by Mr. Stein for two, Mr. MacFarlane for two, Mr. Justin Walcott for four, Mr. Maurice Hunter for four, Mr. Douglas Hunter for four, Mr. William Semeyne for six; and among those dancing were noticed Mr. Hamilton, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Carlyle and Diana Hammond, Florence and Elizabeth Ruggles, Margaret Merrick, Daphne Barber-Starkie, Daphne Pooley and Barbara Twigg.

Miss Marjorie Watson, who has been the inspiration for a number of pre-nuptial affairs, was the guest of honor when Mrs. G. W. Liffon entertained at her home, "Wallaway," Gordon Head Road, recently. The tea table and rooms were daintily decorated with deep blue delphinium, blue and white roses, and the colors of the school at which Miss Watson taught. Mrs. G. Vantreigh poured tea, assisted by Mrs. N. Bell and Mrs. A. Tronson. A presentation was made of a standard lamp and an address, tied with ribbons of the school colors, on behalf of the parents of children attending the Gordon Head school, as a token of appreciation to Miss Watson for her interest and devotion and musical honors brought to the school during her years of teaching. Those present were Mesdames G. F. Watson, Cummings (Seattle), V. Lalonde, O. W. Liffon, J. Vantreigh, N. Bell, A. Tronson, Darcus Stedler, W. Flaherty, E. Kinahaw, Best, J. Townsend, C. Grant, V. J. P. Walker, G. Lundquist, S. E. White, Griffin, Kerry, J. Grand, R. Irvine, J. Hogg, D. Frame, J. A. Laidlaw, Newton Thompson, H. J. Vallance, J. P. Le Coq, W. Edwards, Ellis, E. Renouf, P. A few days in Winnipeg enroute to Victoria, where they will reside. For traveling Mrs. Lancaster chose a tulle gown with a long train, with three-quarter-length coat to match showing elbow-length puffed sleeves. Her hat was a wide-brimmed straw hat with a yellow silk narrow ribbon, finished with a tailored bow.

Mrs. Allardice, mother of the bride, wore a gown of royal blue Alencon lace, with a long train. Her hat was a large brimmed straw hat with blue and white goateen ribbons. The bride's gardenias in the front. Her bouquet was of red Templar roses.

The marriage of Anita Molson, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Curzon Allardice, of Winnipeg, to Rev. Thomas Reed Lancaster of Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, took place Saturday morning at 10.30 o'clock in St. Luke's Church, Winnipeg. His Grace Archbishop S. P. Matthews, assisted by Canon Bertal Heaney, performed the ceremony.

At the appointed hour the bridegroom, with his best man, Mr. Edwin Hewitt, took their places at the altar, which was decorated with flowers and palms, ferns and tall standards of peonies. To the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," the bride and groom were introduced. The service was fully choral. Preceding the ceremony, "O Perfect Love" was sung by the boys' choir, and following the ceremony, "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven." During the signing of the register the choir sang "May the Grace of Christ Our Saviour and 'O Holy Spirit Lord of Grace'."

Immediately following the ceremony there was a celebration of Holy Communion, with Canon Heaney as celebrant, for the bride and groom only.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of the full floor-length, ends marked with a train. The full floor-length skirt flared below the knee, continuing into a train. The bodice showed a cowl neckline caught on either shoulder with lover's knots of brilliant. The sleeves were puffed above the elbow with long tight-fitting cuffs. A wide sash of ivory crepe velvet tied with a large bow of floor length, ends marked with a train. Her hat was a wide-brimmed model in ivory mohair overlaid with maline and banded with matching velvet. She carried a bouquet of pale pink and white sweet peas and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Cynthia Hargrave, a niece of the bride, wore a dress of peau de poche mouseline de sole. The floor-length skirt was ruffled from the knee to the hem. The bodice showed an elbow length of floor length, ends marked with a train. The bodice was caught at the neck with matching ties. A wide sash with a large bow at the back marked the waistline. Her large picture hat was of Madonna blue corduroy trimmed with a plaid banding finished with a small bow in front of the matching corduroy. She carried an arm bouquet of forget-me-nots.

The bride and groom were received by the bridesmaid and the groom's mother. The marriage ceremony left by motor for a trip up the island. On their return to Victoria they will make their home on the occasion of their marriage.

Donna of the Big Top

by BEULAH POYNTER

Madeline picked up the letter, read it through and then destroyed it. She and Con had both spoken in the heat of passion, but they had said things that were not easily forgiven nor forgotten. With her success in the animal act, Madeline had hoped to win her husband's love. Con's fury over discovering that Donna had been neither engaged nor married until after his own wedding showed Madeline only too plainly that he did not love her, that he still cared for the other girl.

Con was well aware of his conceit, but he did not want any one else to mention it, least of all the woman who bore his name. Madeline had added insult to injury and he could not forgive her.

Because the scene still rankled and because both were stubborn, the strained situation continued. Con had never known humility. Never in his life had he admitted himself in the wrong. The overtures toward reconciliation would have to come from Madeline, and Madeline, in the throes of jealousy, convinced herself that she hated Con and did not care if they never spoke again.

Consequently the breach widened. Con treated Madeline with a supercilious courtesy that infuriated her and fanned to a higher flame her hatred and jealousy. Probably during those days when she completely ignored him he came nearer to loving her than at any other time. She had spoken truly when she said that because Donna cared nothing for Con that he had been so determined to win her.

Lucy, the Bengal, was the only one of his beasts Con really cared for. Lucy could not be tamed. She could be driven into the great barred ring, but no persuasion, when she saw a thing could make her mount a stool and sit there as the other animals did. Beautiful as some evil tropical flower, she would stand defiant, snarling and lashing her tail, her yellow eyes gleaming with malice and contempt for her brothers that cowered before the crack of Con's pistol, the lash of his whip.

And it was because he had met his match in this jungle that Con loved her. He gloried in her undefeated spirit, while he swore he would conquer her if he had to kill her.

"Better watch out," Benrow warned. "I don't have to tell you there are some cats you can't train. That beast is a devil. You'll never lick her."

"I will if it's the last thing I do! I'll make her crawl on her belly and like it!"

It Madeline had learned a lesson from the Bengal tiger she might have won Con's love. If she had continued to be aloof, cold and defiant he would in time have forgotten what she had done and found it worth while to try to reinstate himself. Eventually he might have given her as much affection as she was capable of giving anyone.

But Madeline was a woman in love. After a week's coolness, when she alternated between hating Con and aching for him, she decided to try to win him back. She began to smile and begged his forgiveness.

"It was because I loved you," she sobbed. "I know it was a rotten thing to do, but I was just crazy and I knew Donna would never marry you. I'm telling you the truth, the God's truth! Donna had a crush on Bill Siddal the first time she went to visit my grandfather, and I knew if she and Bill were thrown together they'd get married. You've got to forgive me, Con. I can't go on like this. It's just killing me to have you treat me this way.

"suppose it was your idea to have Donna go to the farm after the accident?"

"Well, it was a lot better than having her stay in a hospital, and it saved expense."

"And then her and your precious cousin together! Just what does your grandfather think of Donna's sponging on him this way?"

"Why, he thinks she is me—er—he loves her because—"

"I heard you the first time. So your grandfather thinks Donna is you! Haven't you told me he is well-to-do?"

"Yes. Not rich, but the farm is worth something. He's comfortably fixed. Why?"

"It strikes me that in your anxiety to marry your partner off so you could get your clutches on me you've thrown away your inheritance."

"I don't know what you mean. Donna is a good girl. You don't think Donna would influence him into leaving her the farm, do you?"

"Would she have to do any influencing through his hands? If Donna is going to let the fortune, such as it is, slip through his hands, if Donna isn't unscrupulous enough or clever enough to get the old man's will worded in such a fashion that the money will be hers, this cousin will think up a way to do it."

"And where will you be? You could sweat until doomsday that you were the granddaughter and entitled to what is left, but with two against you you'd just be out of luck."

Madeline's lips curled scornfully. "No, I don't intend to let Donna slip through his hands. I don't know anything about Bill Siddal, but I do know Donna. She wouldn't rob me and no man could induce her to try to cheat me out of anything. Grandfather might leave it to her, but I don't know Donna. I don't know what she intends to do. If Grandfather should die, she'd be a fortune teller."

"I don't know what you're talking about. But just to satisfy you I'll write Donna and ask her what she intends to do. If Grandfather should die, she'd be a fortune teller."

"I know she would tell you."

"If she does for your own protection be sure to keep the letter."

Until this conversation Madeline had given little thought to what her grandfather possessed. Now the farm and livestock and the Siddal bank account became of vast importance as she realized that Con considered her an heiress. After Madeline had written to Donna, first wishing her happiness, then tactfully inquiring what the situation would be if Grandfather should die, she began to wonder if Con were not a better judge of character than herself. Was Donna, in marrying Bill, looking forward to a future that included property and valuable assets, as well as money and husband?

Progressive Housewives Demand Up-to-date Kitchen Appliances

the already gay linette.

Just as the automobile has completely revolutionized our ideas of transportation, distances, ease and comfort of travel, so, too, has the electric range has completely revolutionized our ideas of cooking and baking.

In the first place, a modern electric range makes cooking so easy and so quick and so safe and so up-to-date, that it makes an immediate appeal to the feminine mind. The entire absence of dust, dirt and smoke, the fact that the fuel and ashes to be handled, that pots and pans stay clean and bright, that walls and window hangings do not become soiled, are all factors sufficient in themselves to "sell" electric

All light sockets or switches in the basement should be of the porcelain type. A competent electrical contractor should always be employed to do the work.

Those of us who are trying to cut down on a diet can very easily do so by making a salad the main dish of the meal. A salad can be a well-balanced meal itself. You and your guests will eat it with all the zest of schoolgirls out on a picnic, because you may be sure that the salad, as the main course, is highly acceptable in the reducing diet.

Four or 5 pounds beef, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 cupful boiling water. Put the meat in a roasting pan and place uncovered in oven. Sear the meat at 450 degrees for thirty minutes. Then remove meat from oven, slip a rack under it and pour 1 cup boiling water in bottom of pan. Sprinkle the salt over meat. Cover the roasting pan and bake at 275 degrees for three hours.

Three to 5 pounds pork, table-spoon salt, cupful boiling water, dash pepper. Follow the method given for braised beef.

Pineapple and Carrot Salad

One cup canned pineapple, diced and drained, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, 1 cup grated raw carrot, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup pecan meats cut fine, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise. Mix in dints. Chill in refrigerator and serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with additional pecan meats.

One egg, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar, cup milk, 3 cups pastry flour, $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon baking soda, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup walnuts. Break egg into mixing bowl, add sugar, sour milk and mix. Put nuts through food chopper. Sift flour, measure 3 cups of sifted flour and mix with soda. Add sugar and salt to measured flour. Add dry ingredients through a sifter to egg mixture. Add nuts. Beat thoroughly. Pour into greased bread pan. Bake at 325 degrees for one hour.

One egg, cupful milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, cupful bran, cupful flour (sifted), 4 tablespoons baking powder, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter. Break egg into mixing bowl. Beat and add milk, sugar and bran. Measure sifted flour, baking powder and salt. Pour mixture into sifter and sift it into egg mixture. Melt butter and add. Beat well and turn into buttered muffin pans. Bake at 400 degrees for twenty-five minutes.

One egg, cupful milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup cornmeal, $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups flour (sifted), 4 teaspoons baking powder, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, 2-tablespoons butter. Proceed as for bran muffins. Bake at 400 degrees for twenty-five minutes.

Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon bread flour, 1 pound roasted peanuts (unshelled), 1 teaspoon vanilla, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt. Beat eggs. Add sugar and mix. Shell peanuts. (Do not remove dark, brittle coverings of peanuts). Put peanuts through food chopper. Mix flour, salt and peanuts. Add to egg mixture. Add vanilla. Mix well. Drop by teaspoon onto buttered pans. Bake at 325 degrees for twenty minutes.

One tablespoon butter, 1½ tablespoons top milk, pinch of salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¾ cup confection-ers' sugar. Melt butter, add top milk, salt, vanilla and sugar in order given. Stir until thoroughly mixed.

Chicken and Vegetable Salad

One and a half cups cold chicken (diced), $\frac{3}{4}$ cup celery (diced), $\frac{3}{4}$ cup cold boiled potatoes (diced), cup mayonnaise, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup cold cooked peas, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, 2 small fresh tomatoes (skinned and diced). Mix in order given. Chill in refrigerator. Serve on crisp lettuce with additional mayonnaise and slices of hard-cooked egg as a garnish.

An extra fine way to cook beets is to bake them on the grate in the oven like potatoes. So cooked they are delicious and no food value is lost. One hour is allowed for the baking with an oven temperature of 400 degrees F.

In cooking beets in water, the addition of a little vinegar will help to keep the red color. The same is true with red cabbage.

Just Seven Years

The years of a mother's strongest influence are only seven. In those vital years modern kitchen equipment can transform kitchen toil and drudgery for her into hours of freedom and joy, at small cost. An electric range can save her many, many hours that would otherwise be spent tending a solid fuel range. A small motor can take her place in the laundry, and a vacuum can sweep her house for less than 2 cents an hour, sew and do all manner of ironing at a remarkably low cost. A clothes wringer can save her a fine waste of time. Enjoy the privilege of being with your children, and let the freedom electric appliances bring to you, take the time to do your duty towards your children.

Do Your Cakes

At a recent home service demonstration a housewife asked the director: "Why do my cakes always burn on the bottom?" After questioning, the instructor found out that the woman placed her foods on the floor of the oven.

When asked if racks had not been supplied with the range, she replied: "Oh, yes, but I didn't see what they were good for and so I packed them away in the closet."

After seeing a perfect cake baked on one of the racks in her own oven, she decided that the racks were good for something, after all, and that the range was all right, too.

How Long Should a Wife Live?

Do you know what happened to the Pilgrim Mothers? I will tell you. They died. They died young. It took two or three of them to bring up one family. The fathers were tough, and lived long, but work and hardship made short work of the wives.

Listen a minute:
Of the men who graduated from Yale between 1701 and 1745, 418 became husbands. What happened to Thirty-three died before they were twenty-five years old; fifty-five died before they were thirty-five years old; and fifty-five before they were forty-five years old.

Those 418 husbands lost 147 wives before full middle age.

"I can't," said you, "can't measure the height of any civilization by the plane upon which its women live. Measured by that standard we have a good deal to be ashamed of. We have not made enough. There are still millions of women doing women's work electrically can do for a few cents. There are still millions of women selling their time for cooie wages—cooking, washing, cleaning, ironing, and so on. That is important. And so is the fact that they are not free to leave of their health and charm of appearance.

"How should a wife live?"

The answer in the old days was not very long. The homes of those days had three mothers, and no modern electric.

WEIRD TALE FROM NORTH

Indians Tell of White Man
With Half a Face Who Flees
From Strangers

Canadian Press
Flin Flon, June 25.—Weird stories trickle out of the north country from time to time and Royal Canadian Mounted Police here were skeptical of the report that a white man "with half a face" was roaming the bush country along Reindeer River.

Vague reports relayed from the distant Indian camps of Burntwood Bay and Reindeer Lake, passed on from traveler to traveler were recounted to police here by John O'Brien, whose trap line extends north of here.

They told of a white man who inhabits the brush fringe of the Northwest Territories and who disappears at the approach of strangers. According to messages of the trail he is believed to have lost his reason as the result of hardships endured last winter.

Indians believe the face disfigurement resulted from severe frost bite. Several Indians have reported seeing the phantom white man, but none has succeeded in getting close enough to bring "outside" a possible clue as to his identification.

Police patrols at the various posts throughout the north country have not reported any missing trappers and while scouting reports that a deranged white man is at large, police stated, the source of the reports would be investigated.

Standing One in France

Associated Press
Houilles, France, June 25.—The engineer was killed and fifty-nine passengers were injured, nine of them seriously, when a speeding train crashed into a standing freight train here yesterday evening.

Rescue crews worked feverishly for four hours to free the engineer, pinned under the locomotive. His legs were crushed and he was scalded by steam. While his screams spurred workers to reach him, a doctor crawled through the tangled steel and burning steam to give him a hypodermic.

Maintaining the high standard he set a short time ago, when he led marksmen in the regular shoot of the Victoria and District Military Rifle Association, Master Gunner H. ago because they decided they had gone as far as they could as a sister act. Singly, they believed, they would get a chance to do something besides sing and dance.
But for their first real motion picture break, three of them had to get together again. June, Jane and Joan are cast in important roles in Para-mount's "Melody in Spring," which comes to-day to the Columbia Theatre, featuring Lanny Ross, Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland and Ann Sothern.

Their reunion came about when Director Norman McLeod searched for a set of triplets to play important roles in the picture.
The decision to reunite the Gale girls followed. Joan was borrowed from a major company. Jane returned from Chicago where she was featured in a film based on the World's Fair.
June has already appeared in one picture. The fourth sister, Jean, is a free-lance film actress.
Also being shown on the same programme is John Boles in "I Believed in You."

BOOK ALMOST
WROTE ITSELF
War's Reaction Forced Remarque to Write "All Quiet
on Western Front"

The finest war book in literature practically wrote itself. Erich Maria Remarque, author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," now at the Empire Theatre, explained that he had no choice but to write the book. The ideas, the very words, forced themselves out of him. There was a message to youth of which he could not not but unburden himself.
Something inside Remarque forced him to tell the truth of his experience in war. At the age of eighteen he was swept from the quiet schoolroom on a wave of patriotism and carried into the front line trenches.
His suffering began. Disillusionment followed disillusionment. Horror followed horror, while his inquiring

Two Stars in Vivid Drama
Marie Dressler and Lionel
Barrymore Co-starring at
The Playhouse

In the first place, the story is interesting, though, amid its heart throbs and human touches are many delightful comedy interludes. The contrasting work of Miss Dressler and Mr. Barrymore is grippingly interesting. The tale of the New England country doctor who, under the lash of avarice, turns from an honest, kindly soul to a grasping schemer, only to be guided back to his lifelong path of honor by the faith of an old servant.
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer adapted it from the famous New York stage play,
"The Late Christopher Bean."
Shown as the second feature on the same programme is George O'Brien in "Ever Since Eve."

COMING TUESDAY
New faces, believes Director W. S.
Van Dyke, are one of the most refreshing things about motion pictures.
And because it is his belief, Col.
Van Dyke has insisted that a host of new faces should make their debut in the Metro-Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan picture, "The Thin Man," which is to be shown Tuesday at the Dominion Theatre.
"The Thin Man," Producer Hunt
Stromberg has supplied me with many new faces—probably more than have been seen recently in any motion picture.
"From the New York stage, Porter
Hall was obtained. He was 'discovered' by Producer Stromberg in the stage production of 'The Dark Tower.' Though he is a very successful stage player, this picture is Hall's initiation as a screen actor, and from what I have seen of him so far, he is destined to go a long way in pictures."
William Powell and Myrna Loy head
the cast, which also includes Maureen
O'Sullivan, Nat Pendleton and Minna Gombell.

NEWS IN BRIEF

At a meeting held Saturday night by the Victoria Shore Club, it was decided to hold a picnic at Elk Lake on July 15. Routine business matters were considered.

At their luncheon to-day, directors of the Chamber of Commerce welcomed Percy E. George, a delegate from the junior chamber to the senior group.

Fourteen-year-old William Norton, Connasht Road, was reported missing Saturday and has not been located since, according to a city police report.

The arrest of Joe Kostelec, wanted in Edmonton for removing fixtures from mortgaged premises, was made near Alert Bay, Saturday, by provincial police. The Edmonton police are forwarding an escort for the prisoner.

Tribute to the late J. L. Beckwith, who took part in the undertakings of the old Board of Trade and the Chamber of Commerce in its earlier days, was paid by President W. T. Straith at the luncheon in Spencer's dining-room to-day.

Thief of five cameras from the auction rooms at 1417 Broad Street, over the week-end, was reported to the city police this morning. The thief gained entrance by pushing a quantity of wood away from the rear door.

The members and their friends of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will hold their annual picnic on Wednesday, June 29, at the home of W. Patterson, Margaret's Bay, Gordon Head. Swimming and ball games will be enjoyed in the afternoon with a bonfire in the evening.

The 55th and 56th Batteries of the Fifth (B.C.) Coast Brigade will use six-inch guns and twelve pounders at their competitive shooting in the C.A.A. contests at Port Moresby tonight and will continue to-morrow night, when the competition closes. The public will be able to witness the firing from the side and back of the fort.

A lifebelt labelled "El Dorado," Everett, was picked up in Esquimalt waters Saturday afternoon, according to a report from the municipal police. Nothing unusual is attached to the discovery since it is believed the belt merely drifted away or was lost from the boat to which it belonged. Police, however, are making investigations.

The fishing boat CP2552 was ashore on the west coast of Vancouver Island, three miles north of Jordan River, yesterday, according to a report made to provincial police by W. Arden, tender of the Sheringham Point Lighthouse. The AR1551 was reported standing by. The CP2552 was undamaged, it was believed.

Allister Forbes, rancher, of Cobble Hill, is leaving for New York this morning to be a witness for the prosecution in the United States government's case against a group of investment bankers. Losses of Mr. Forbes in connection with the deals are estimated at around $30,000. The U.S. government is bearing all Mr. Forbes's expense in connection with his trip east and his stay during the trial.

Police are conducting a search for motor car bearing license B.C. 7773, a 1929 open model Chevrolet. The car, belonging to Gordon Fish, 1134 May Street, was stolen about 10 o'clock last Thursday evening from in front of 1109 McKenzie Street. The police suspect the car may have been run off the road and abandoned somewhere in the country, or concealed in some isolated garage.

P. F. Warren, 1606 Belmont Avenue, suffered injuries to his wrist in an accident at the corner of Hastings Street and Belmont Avenue, Sunday morning, which necessitated his removal to the Jubilee Hospital, according to a report from Mr. Warren. When he collided with a car driven west on Haultain Street by Rev. S. A. Fraser, 1979 Lansdowne Road, Mr. Warren was taken to the hospital and attended by Dr. J. M. Fowler. After the impact the Fraser car was reported to have turned on its side at the northeast corner of the intersection.

PIONEER M.P.'S WIDOW PASSES

Mrs. Annie Orton Died Yesterday at Saanich, Aged Ninety-two

Mrs. Annie Orton, widow of Dr. George T. Orton, who represented Centre Wellington, Ont., in the House of Commons from 1874 to 1878 under Sir John A. Macdonald, passed away yesterday evening at the Saanich Health Centre, aged ninety-two years.

Mrs. Orton was born in Gatinneau, P.Q., in 1842, and came to British Columbia in 1885, settling her home at Vernon. In 1919 Mrs. Orton came to this city, residing here ever since. Her husband predeceased her in 1906, and she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. H. A. Haldane of Victoria.

Private funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Youngster Has Thigh Broken

Ronald Francis, Five and a Half Years, Injured When Struck By Car

Ronald H. Francis, McKenzie Avenue, five and a half years old, had his thigh broken in an accident on North Quadra Street yesterday morning. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his condition was reported good to-day.

According to the Saanich police, Ronald was assisting his father deliver milk in the morning and the truck was parked on the east side of the road near Lake Hill.

As he ran from his father's car to make delivery of milk he failed to see another car, driven by James Kirkpatrick, Sidney, proceeding from the city. Mr. Kirkpatrick made every effort to avoid the child, but the car struck him at the side of the road, taking a wheel off.

The lad was rushed to the hospital, where he was attended by Dr. A. E. McKinnon.

TEACHERS LOOK FOR VACANCIES

Field Not Entirely Devoid of Hope in Victoria as Terms Come to Close

As prospective teachers turned to possibilities of securing positions in city schools to-day as the terms were winding up generally in the city they surveyed fields not entirely devoid of hope.

At the Victoria School Board offices to-day, it was understood some vacancies would occur through resignations. The policy of the board in former years has been to fill any such posts with teachers of experience with high academic honors.

Much may depend on the policy adopted by the board regarding rumored overcrowding in certain schools. Some teachers have classes of considerable size owing to the practice of keeping all students of the same grade in the one room. During the year now terminating, the board has been generally opposed to overcrowding, a policy forced upon the city some time ago through economic necessity. At present in the city some classes have enrolments of over forty, a mark regarded by some as too high for efficient handling. The condition was not universal throughout the schools of the city.

The question had a twofold interest to teachers whose homes are in Victoria but who are teaching in outside districts and to Normal graduates. The former hoped to secure posts in the city, while the others, not sanguine though no hope for them, are casting looks at possible vacancies in the rural localities.

BETTER ROADS ARE ESSENTIAL

Dusty B.C. Highways Deter Many U.S. Tourists, Publicity Commissioner Finds

The general opinion advanced among officials of organizations whom George J. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, met on a 1,200-mile tour of the Interior of British Columbia was that oiling and hard surfacing of the main trunk roads of the province was essential in order to maintain the volume of tourist business.

Mr. Warren returned yesterday from a lecture tour over the Okanagan-Cariboo trail during the course of which he visited Harrison Hot Springs, Craig Lodge, Paul Lake, Sorrento Inn, Siska Lodge, Ashcroft Manor and conferred and held meetings with city council and boards of trade at Kamloops, Kelowna, Penticton, Salmon Arm, Armstrong, Enderby and Vernon. He also spoke at a meeting of the Good Roads Association at Wenatchee, Washington, and over Station KPQ while in that city.

Inquiries regarding tourist business made by Mr. Warren during the tour convinced him that Victoria is more than holding its own this summer. Few cars are coming through the Fraser River route. He spoke at many places on the advantages of British Columbia generally becoming tourist conscious, laying emphasis on the tourist business as one of the main industries of British Columbia. Appreciation was voiced of the interest the federal government, and particularly the provincial government, was showing at this time in the industry.

Co-operation of the whole of British Columbia in drawing outside tourists and directing attention of its own citizens to traveling attractions of the province was essential, Mr. Warren pointed out. At some of the places he called plans were made for tourist drives through service stations, stores and others coming in contact with travelers.

TEACHERS LOOK FOR VACANCIES

Field Not Entirely Devoid of Hope in Victoria as Terms Come to Close

As prospective teachers turned to possibilities of securing positions in city schools to-day as the terms were winding up generally in the city they surveyed fields not entirely devoid of hope.

At the Victoria School Board offices to-day, it was understood some vacancies would occur through resignations. The policy of the board in former years has been to fill any such posts with teachers of experience with high academic honors.

Much may depend on the policy adopted by the board regarding rumored overcrowding in certain schools. Some teachers have classes of considerable size owing to the practice of keeping all students of the same grade in the one room. During the year now terminating, the board has been generally opposed to overcrowding, a policy forced upon the city some time ago through economic necessity. At present in the city some classes have enrolments of over forty, a mark regarded by some as too high for efficient handling. The condition was not universal throughout the schools of the city.

The question had a twofold interest to teachers whose homes are in Victoria but who are teaching in outside districts and to Normal graduates. The former hoped to secure posts in the city, while the others, not sanguine though no hope for them, are casting looks at possible vacancies in the rural localities.

Henry Cotton Sets Record to Lead In British Open Golf

THE SPORTS MIRROR

MICKEY COCHRANE, whose Detroit Tigers are at present engaged in a real dog-fight with the New York Yankees for leadership of the American Baseball League, was interviewed the other day in New York, and during the conversation was asked what he had been doing to his Tigers to make them climb the heights. Peering through his mask, Cochrane being the catcher for Detroit in addition to manager, what did he see ahead for his team in the pennant pursuit?

"We're up there," said Cochrane, "because we're giving it the old college try. They laugh about it, you know—the old college try. But it gets you places." So does pitching. "Well, we have some of that, too," he agreed. "Take Schoolboy Rowe. I tell you, he's the best I've seen come along since Grove. He's only twenty-one, and he is a polished pitcher right now."

Would he call him a fast-ball or a curve-ball pitcher?

"Both," said Mickey promptly. "He has a corking fast one, a swell curve, a good change of pace and good control. Listen, I've seen him give three balls to a batter and then throw three strikes right past him. He can come through there when he wants. Don't worry about that."

Possibly Joe McCarthy, Buckey Harris, Joe Cronin and others gave it occasional serious thought.

"Bridges has as much stuff as anybody in the league," Manager Mickey continued. "He's a fighter, too. Marberry has been with a championship club. That helps plenty in the clutch. Yeah, our pitching's good. Say, if this Broaca keeps throwing those half-hits, those Yanks are going to be bad medicine. Well, they've been that ever since I've been looking at them, so I can't say I'm surprised."

Through the wires of his working mask, how did he view the contenders?

"Looks like a good scramble," he answered. "The Yanks are bound to be in there, of course. The Washington Senators, too. We're in and, believe me, we're going to stay in, or somebody is going to have a rough time throwing us out. Cleveland has a fine outfield and some good pitchers, but I think the Yanks and Washington will be the ones to beat."

His man, Gerringer, has been up there making a lot of hits and more runs than any other player in the league.

"Grand!" said Mickey, throwing out his chest with pride. "That's the body close to him among the second basemen. And he's so quiet that nobody knows he's around until he goes to bat. That's the only time he makes a noise, busting the ball with his bat. I think he has a wider margin than any other player in the league for the all-star team. That's the way it should be. He's off by himself at second base."

Had he noticed that his old playmate, Jimmy Dykes, was leading at the polls in the battle for the third base office on the American League ticket?

"Sure," said Mickey, putting on a wide grin. "Great guy, Jimmy. You know, there's a great third baseman in this league, Higgins. Sure he's the class. And we've got the next best. To me, he's the best. He's like the most improved ball player in the league to-day. I thought third base was going to be a bad spot for us. Now it's a strong point. That's another thing in our favor. We have a pretty young team at most positions. We're coming where others are going. We're better off than the Yanks and Washington at that respect. They have a lot of veterans, and some are fading fast."

He paused to light a cigarette and, suddenly, still holding a lighted match in his hand, he added:

"I'm not talking of the Babe. There's another guy that's in a class by himself. I don't care how much he slows up in the field, he's still Babe Ruth when he walks up with that bat."

He asked about the National League race. The opinion was ventured that the Pittsburgh Pirates not only had the strongest team in the National League but the best team in baseball, and they would not win in the National League. Not enough pitching.

"Yes, they have a great team," agreed Mr. Cochrane. "We played them an exhibition game. What an outfield! And that Vaughan, he's quite a ball player. But you have to have pitching. Look at the Athletics."

That was Connie Mack's regular job and it wasn't any too pleasant for the kindly old gentleman these days, more the pity.

"But it's a great ball club," insisted the Detroit manager. "A swell infield, probably the best in the league. A corking outfield. Is there a better fielder in the league than Doc Cramer? A great ball club—and no pitching. So they're sunk. Yes, you have to have pitching."

Hitting helps at times, too.

"Sure," said Mickey. "Gehrig and Goslin have been the boys for us."

Cobble Hill Drops Two Softball Games

A softball team from Cobble Hill visited Victoria yesterday and played a double header with two local teams. In the morning they played the New Method Laundry at Central Park. After a very close game the laundry won 9 to 8. In the afternoon before a large crowd at Bullen's Park they tested defeat from Brundson's boys, 14 to 4. This game was featured by five home runs made by the Equimault team and also by "pitching" of Don (Duke) Warder of Brundson's boys.

British Pro Has Sensational 66 At St. George's

Clips Two Strokes From Course Mark in First 18 of Qualifying Round

GENE SARAZEN AROUND IN 75

Sandwich, June 25.—Blazing the way to a new course record, Henry Cotton, crack British pro, snatched the lead in the first eighteen holes of the thirty-six-hole qualifying round for the British open championship to-day with a spectacular 66 over the Royal St. George's course.

Cotton toured the first nine in thirty-one strokes and came home in thirty-five to clip two strokes off the course record of 68 held jointly by the amateurs, Eric Martin Smith, England, and Douglas Grant, England.

Cotton's card follows: Out 432 434 434—31 In 444 444 444—35—66 D. H. R. Martin, an unranked English amateur, playing over the Royal Cinque Ports course, took second place, temporarily at least, with a sub-par 70.

Jack McLean, Scottish and Irish amateur champion and one of the outstanding simon-pure contenders for the title held by Denny Shute, Philadelphia, turned in a 76 for his first qualifying round.

Qualifying Play

Half the big field played the first eighteen holes of the qualifying test over the Royal St. George's course to-day, and will play the final eighteen over the Royal Cinque Ports layout at neighboring Deal, to-morrow. The low 100 and ties in the qualifying test will begin play in the championship proper with an eighteen-hole round Wednesday.

Another eighteen holes will be played Thursday. The field will then be cut to the low sixty and ties for the final two rounds Friday. All four rounds of the championship proper will be played over the Royal St. George's links.

S. B. Roberts, Welsh amateur, and Cecil S. Denny, pro from Thorpe Hall, Essex, both posted early 71s over the Royal St. George's course. Bert Gadd, Brand Hall professional, carded a 71 over the Royal Cinque Ports course to stay up among the early leaders, while Archie Compton, veteran British commercial golfer, used 76 strokes.

Shute played St. George's raggedly to reach the turn in 38, two over par. He also required 38 coming home.

Sarazen kept even with par for the first nine holes over the Royal Cinque Ports course. He was out in 37. He came back in 38, one over par, for a 75.

Esquimalt Wins Football Crown

Defeats Saanich Thistles 3 to 0 in Wild Final For Coast League Championship; Manager Jack Price, Thistles, Escorted From Field After Striking Referee

In a match featured by one of the wildest finishes in the history of local football, Esquimalt defeated the Saanich Thistles 3 to 0 at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon, to win the championship of the first division of the Victoria Coast Football League. The match was bitterly fought up until six minutes from time, when Esquimalt slipped, through for their first goal. The counter-draw down a storm of protest from the Saanich players and before the final whistle a near riot threatened. The conduct of several members of the Thistles, along with their manager, Jack Price, drew much criticism from the spectators.

Esquimalt won the first half championship of the league, and the Thistles the second half honors, after a playoff with Victoria West, and Saturday's match determined the city champions, marked the end of the season, which has been a most successful one for the Esquimalt team.

With the clubs in a scoreless deadlock and only six minutes left before the whistle to end the second half, Tommy Watt slipped a beautiful pass to his brother John, and the latter beat Wally Rowe, in the Thistles' net, with a cross-shot to the corner. Members of the Thistles gathered around Referee Dave Swan, protesting the counter, claiming John Watt was off-side. During the argument, Manager Price of the Thistles rushed onto the field, and after a few words with the official, struck him in the face. The referee stepped back and Price was pulled away, to be escorted into the dressing-room by William Pynn, caretaker at the park.

Minutes had elapsed before Esquimalt broke through for their second goal. "Scotty" Stewart, playing at inside right, took a pass from the left wing, and while the Saanich players stood around and called for an offside, Stewart went in on top of Rowe to flick the ball between the posts. Another argument resulted, but Referee Swan pointed to the centre spot. The Thistles continued to protest and Goalie Rowe was down near centre, arguing with the referee in an effort to get him to change his decision. A foul was blown against the Thistles on the centre-offside and from the kickoff Worswick, outside left, took a pass and cut in on the Saanich goal, which was empty. The referee stepped back and called for a goal, and over to the wing in an attempt to block Worswick's shot, but the forward lifted it over his head into the empty net. With their chances of winning gone the Saanich players appeared to lose their heads, and until the final whistle they adopted rough tactics with the result

HOOP HEAD IS DROWNED

A. McLarnon, Canadian Basketball Official, Dies in Accident at Kenora

Kenora, Ont., June 25.—Details of a grim struggle for life, while clinging to an overturned canoe, will be reviewed by a coroner's jury to-day at the inquest on the death of Alfred McLarnon, Winnipeg. The youthful vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association sank from exhaustion near Minaki Sunday, while swimming to shore to bring assistance to three companions.

The three survivors of a pleasure trip that turned into tragedy, John Jack, Howard Severon and Bert McKinney, Winnipeg, were resting in hospital here to-day recovering from the effects of clinging to their overturned craft for forty-five minutes in the swift-running headwaters of the Winnipeg River. The four were journeying from their summer place at Camp Stevens to Minaki when the accident occurred.

In some unknown manner the canoe overturned far out in the lake. For nearly an hour the quartette drifted with the canoe, grimly clinging to the sides, hoping to attract attention from a passing craft which did not come. Finally, McLarnon, a strong swimmer, volunteered to swim to shore. But his long period in the

Bev Gilson Winner Of Fishing Event

By Robert Edgren

Landing a twenty-one and half-pound spring salmon yesterday at Brentwood, B. (Bev) Gilson won the honors in the first competition of the season staged under the auspices of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. In addition to winning a fishing rod, Gilson took a bronze button of the association and won a leg on the Alcock Trophy. The winner of the latter will be determined late in the season, when the first three in the association's competitions meet in a fish-off the winner to take possession of the trophy.

Gilson hooked his winning fish at noon off Bamerton, using a number seven Superior brass and alive spoon on 300 feet of wire line. He was accompanied in the boat by his brother, Percy. Fred Smith finished second with a fish weighing seventeen and quarter pounds. Roger Monteith and Ace Anderson tied for fourth each with fish weighing seventeen pounds, and Dan Thomas was fifth with a sixteen pounder.

The first consolation prize was won by J. A. Wardell, while the second went to Kay Smith. The consolation awards are drawn for by members who weigh in fish but fail to make the prize list.

With perfect weather conditions prevailing the competition attracted around 125 boats. A visit to Saanich Inlet on Saturday night by a large school of black fish was held responsible for the rather poor showing of big fish at the weighing in station. Strangely enough the first three prizewinners took their awards with the only fish they got all day.

Trumper C. H. Clahse sounded "retreat" at 7:15 o'clock in the evening and played the "End of a Perfect Day" as the competitors headed for shore.

A large number gathered around for the distribution of prizes. A large birthday cake, donated by McLean's Bakery, and decorated with gold, silver and bronze buttons of the association, was cut.

During the day Bob Stacey traveled over the course in his big launch and provided the competitors with free sandwiches and ice drinks.

The next competition of the association will be held on July 8. For this event all the principal prizes will be provided by Horace Beer of the Poodle Dog Cafe. It will be known as the "Poodle Dog Competition."

Defeating C. E. Brown, 3 and 2, in the thirty-six-hole final, B. P. Schwengers won the club championship of the Colwood Golf Club. In the final of the first flight Alex. Strath was returned victor over H. G. McKenzie, 1 up.

Prizes won in the tournament will be presented by J. Graham Graham at 4:30 o'clock in the clubhouse on Wednesday.

Complete results of the finals follow:

CHAMPIONSHIP: B. P. Schwengers won from C. E. Brown, 3 and 2.

water had exhausted him. He sank before swimming fifty yards and out of reach of rescue.

As an ex-army, swimming instructor, basketball coach and referee young McLarnon was well known throughout the west. He had officiated in the capacity of referee at many basketball contests here and at western points.

The body will be taken to Winnipeg for burial.

A brother, W. McLarnon, survives him.

Sockeye Salmon Run Is Earlier

The sockeye salmon run at Stamp River is two to four weeks earlier than usual, according to information received this morning by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Because of the river being full of salmon steelhead fishing is poor at present time. However, steelhead may be taken, but the fishing cannot be called good.

Cutthroat trout are taking the fly at Stamp Falls and along the river. The Ash River is also good for trout. Trolling for cutthroat at Spruce Lake is good at the present time, especially at the head of Two Rivers and Taylor Arms.

Great Central is now good for trolling and some good catches have been coming in, some of the cutthroat running to eight and nine pounds.

NANAIMO WINS SOCCER MATCH

Defeats Vancouver Macca-bees 3 to 0 in Semi-final of Mainland Cup

Nanaimo, June 25.—Nanaimo City found a tough opponent in Vancouver Macca-bees yesterday, but eliminated them from the Mainland Cup soccer series by 3 to 0.

Sandland's two goals in the dying minutes of the game gave the home team its decisive victory.

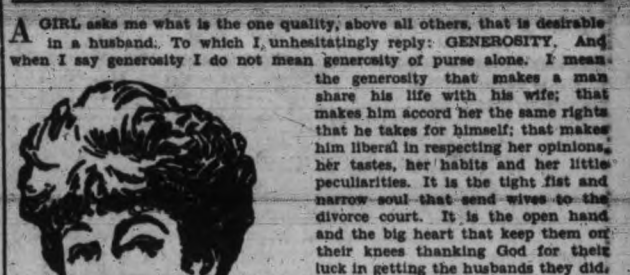

The two aggregations played to a draw three weeks ago. Nanaimo will meet North Shore in the final.

Macca-bees nullified the City's pressing movements with sheer aggression that kept them in a jockeying position throughout most of the game. Waugh netted a pretty drive to the corner, twenty minutes after play opened, for the only goal of the first half. Sandland made it 2 to 0 eight minutes before full time and a minute later lunged in a goal from close range to end the scoring.

Vancouver, June 25.—Art Montu-met qualified to meet Westminster Royals in the second round of the Dominion soccer championship by defeating Kerrisdale, 8 to 2, in a first round replay, at Con Jones Park, Saturday. North Shore United and Victoria again failed to reach a decision in their replay, after playing thirty minutes overtime to a 1 to 1 tie.

Dorothy Dix

What Quality Is Best in a Husband?

GENEROUSITY. And when I say generosity I do not mean generosity of purse alone. I mean the generosity that makes a man share his life with his wife; that makes him accord her the same rights that he takes for himself; that makes him liberal in respecting her opinions, her tastes, her habits and her little peculiarities. It is the tight fist and narrow soul that send wives to the divorce court. It is the open hand and the big heart that keep them on their knees thanking God for their luck in getting the husbands they did.

Just how many men are stingy about money with their wives only the thousands of women who are forced to petty larceny to get the price of a hat out of their husbands can tell. For the man who is generous with his wife is as generous with his money as he is with his heart, and provides her with fine clothes and jewels and cars and all of the appurtenances that go to make a show and advertise his success and prosperity.

But when it comes to secret economies he clamps down good and hard on his wife and makes her the victim of his cupidity. He doesn't consider her pride and self-respect and her sense of fair play worth even a damaged dime. There are plenty of women who ride around in limousines, who are dressed in the latest import from Paris and who have on a small fortune in jewels, who have not even the price of an ice cream cone in their ornate handbags, and who live in shuddering terror of the first of the month when the bills come in.

A woman married to a rich man once told me that in all the forty years she had been married she had not had $5 of her own that she could spend as she pleased. This particular woman had been a wonderful wife and mother, thrifty, industrious, a splendid manager. She had helped her husband make his fortune, but not one cent of it did he give her for her own. She had not even a servant's wage, although she had done the work of half a dozen cooks and housemaids and nurses and seamstresses.

That there are many women driven to padding bills to get a little money from husbands who will pay for caviar and $10 stockings, but who will not give their wives a dollar, is a matter of common knowledge. And the wonder is that any man has little enough sense not to know that when he withholds from his wife the money that she knows belongs to her he is taking the surest and swiftest way possible to kill her respect and affection for him. There is no other crime that a man can commit against his wife that she cannot forgive him far more easily than stinginess.

It isn't what a man gives his wife that matters to her. It is the spirit in which he gives it. She would rather have a chip diamond that he gave her spontaneously and because he loved her and wanted to give her pleasure than an emerald bracelet that was given her grudgingly and because he wanted her to outshine some other man's wife. As long as a wife knows that her husband will give her his shirt she is perfectly willing to patch her old lingerie and make it do.

So, girls, in picking out a husband keep your eye on a man's wallet and see if it has a padlock on it or not. If it has, if he never gives to a beggar, if he is niggardly in his tips, if he counts the cost of everything he buys, don't marry him. He will make the kind of husband who does out nickels to his wife and asks her what she did with that quarter he gave her last month. There is no worse fate than being a miser's wife.

And don't marry a man who is emotionally stingy. There are men whose hearts are tied up as tightly as their bank rolls are and that a woman has to break into with a jimmy. They are too close-mouthed ever to smile or laugh or say a pleasant thing. They are too niggardly with their words ever to hand a wife a compliment, or tell her that they love her. They may love their wives and appreciate them, but they keep their feelings locked away in a chilled-steel safety deposit box somewhere in the depths of their stony souls, and the wives never get any good out of their affections.

Marry a generous, warm-hearted man who is full of tenderness and sentiment and who will lavish his love upon you without counting the cost. Marry a man who will give his laughter to any funny story and his tears to any sorrow, and who is so overflowing with kindly impulses toward all the world that he never watches out to see if he is getting back as much as he gave.

Choose for a husband a man who is generous in his opinions, who is broadminded and liberal in all his views. Thus shall you save yourself from a life of argumentation and petty tyranny. Marry a man who is big enough to see that a man and woman cannot always look at a subject from the same point of view, nor have the same tastes, and stamp of you. Above all, marry a man who is generous enough to make marriage a real partnership of thoughts, of interests, of money, instead of trying to monopolize all of the perquisites for himself.

Believe me, daughter, generosity is a headliner among domestic virtues and big-hearted-ism is the prize husband. DOROTHY DIX. (Copyright by Public Ledger Inc.)

Uncle Wiggly's Summer Snow

By HOWARD H. GARIS

Summer had come to Woodland, near the Orange Ice Mountains where Uncle Wiggly lived in his hollow stump bungalow. This summer was about four days old for, you know, summer really begins June 21. Long ago, when the dog days were here, it seemed as if the dog days were here.

So, one hot June day when summer had really just started, Uncle Wiggly put on his hat and his pink nose and then he was ready to hop off and look for a cool place to sit.

"Wait a minute, if you please," called Nurse Jane. "Uncle Wiggly, the rabbit gentleman as he went skipping down the road, he said, 'I'll bring you a cool breeze blowing on him.' The cold air seemed to come up out of a little valley down between two high rocks."

"Mr. Whitehead isn't down there," said Uncle Wiggly. "But I wonder what makes it so cool."

Uncle Wiggly hopped to the edge of the little valley, or cleft in the rocks and looked down. Another cool wind floated up and almost made his pink nose stop twinkling. But there was no sign of the jolly old Point Bear gentleman who lived in a cave full of chunks of ice, snow and icicles.

"I'll tell you why," said a red spotted Squeggie Bug who was crawling along on top of the snow. "Down in that cleft is a lot of snow, left from last winter. In this rocky valley the sun doesn't shine until August, so the snow won't melt until then. The valley is so narrow and deep the sun can't get down in it to melt the snow."

"What fun!" said Uncle Wiggly and he did. He crawled down the rocky valley and there he found a bank of clean, white snow. He made snow into a ball threw it at himself and laughed.

"What fun!" said Uncle Wiggly and he did. He crawled down the rocky valley and there he found a bank of clean, white snow. He made snow into a ball threw it at himself and laughed.

After throwing a few more snowballs, Uncle Wiggly climbed up out of the valley and hopped on. He went to the store and bought the sugar, eggs and a bottle of vanilla for Nurse Jane. Then, all of sudden, he saw Baby Buntie, Jingle Jangle, Buster, Duster and many more of his little rabbit children coming from school.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly!" said Buntie, the orphan bunny. "We're so hot!"

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

TUESDAY, JUNE 26, 1934

Benefic aspects rule to-day. It is a time to launch new enterprises and to push established projects.

The planetary government favors return to the land either as owner or as tiller of the soil. Again real estate should be active.

Workers of many sorts should benefit under this aspect, which seems to preface a slow but substantial revival of private industry. There will be a better understanding between capital and labor.

The stars are very favorable to dwellers on the earth against evil spirits.

This is a lucky day for starting any sort of a journey and should be especially happy for those who start honeymoon travels.

Increase of crime and the organization of lawbreakers will be definitely recognized this summer as causes for extraordinary governmental efforts toward punishment and suppression of crime.

Those who read the stars stress the fact that in the United States conditions encourage violence and crime, because of lack of methods to protect the people. Sale of firearms is the cause of much of the trouble. Public opinion to-day is under a sign making for the gradual crystallization of sentiment toward radical measures of reform. Again the stars predict that women are to contribute important aid in civic affairs.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of success through industry. Journeys are likely to be profitable.

Children born on this day probably will be serious-minded and studious. Subjects of this sign are resourceful and versatile. Frieda Kempel, noted opera star, was born on this day, 1888. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Lord Kelvin, noted scientist, 1824, and Thomas Chap, one-time president of Yale 1763. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)
